CLASSIFICATIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

For purposes of salary administration and eligibility for overtime payments and employment benefits, the Company classifies its employees as follows:

 - Note that employees hired from temporary employment agencies for specific assignments are employees of the respective agency and not of the Company.
- Non-exempt Employees – Employees who are required to be paid minimum wage and overtime at the federal or state prescribed wage rate, whichever is higher.

INTRODUCTORY PERIOD

An employee's first ninety (90) days of employment are considered to be an Introductory Period. This is a time when you become acclimated to the Company culture, learn the job and expectations, and a time when the Company is closely evaluating your progress.

TIMEKEEPING SYSTEM

All non-exempt employees are responsible for utilizing the Timekeeping System when they start and stop working. Each direct supervisor is responsible for managing their staff's time and confirming the hours worked. Supervisors and Managers are given a daily report in order to ensure employees' time is logged in through the Team Time System.

If for any reason you cannot access the Timekeeping System, you must report your time worked to your direct supervisor immediately. Any discrepancies concerning time worked should be resolved by your direct supervisor before transmittal to the Payroll Department for payment. In order for you to be paid properly, your hours of work must be communicated correctly to the Payroll Department. If your hours are not communicated and appropriate procedures are not followed, please note that you are at risk of not receiving a timely and/or correct paycheck.

If you cannot be at work due to sickness, or other excusable circumstances, or if you will be late in arriving at your assigned place, please call your direct supervisor and follow the notification procedures provided in the Absenteeism/Tardiness Section. In the event that you are unable to communicate with your direct supervisor, you must call our main number at 1-800-321-4773. In the unforeseen event of a disabling sickness or accident outside performing your duties, notify your direct supervisor at the earliest possible time. In such circumstances, you must communicate with your direct supervisor within 72 hours of the start of your shift. If communication does not occur, it will be considered job abandonment and you are at risk of disciplinary action up to and including termination.

PAYROLL TIMEKEEPING INTEGRITY

Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD expects the highest standard of ethical conduct and fair dealing from its employees. The Payroll Timekeeping Integrity Policy provides general guidance on ethical principles that all supervisors and managers must follow. The responsibility to edit or approve hours worked is a critical responsibility at Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD. Every employee with payroll related responsibilities must read and understand this Policy. However, no one Policy can anticipate all situations. We must all depend on the basic honesty and good judgment of every individual and be aware of the way others see us and may interpret our actions.

It is supervisor's and manager's responsibility to:

- Advise employees to punch for all work. Employees may not work off the clock. Employees working off the clock, and supervisors/managers knowing of or permitting off the clock work, will be terminated.
- Ensure employees are paid punch to punch (from time “in” to time “out”) for all work performed at each location.
- Ensure employees work the full shift(s) assigned except for permissible emergency leave.
- Ensure employee work schedules do not create excessive overtime. Overtime should be approved prior to being incurred.
- Closely monitor timekeeping hours to ensure there are no “ghost employees”. Do not add time that was not worked by an employee.
- Ensure meal breaks are taken as required by Company policy, state law, and that all meal breaks are documented.
- Meal breaks are unpaid.
- Employees must punch out for their meal break. In EPay, there is a separate line for the break.
- Meal breaks must be a minimum of 30 minutes and occur mid shift.
- Select the right and accurate reason when correcting missing punches or meal break times.
- Understand state specific requirements for your geographic area of responsibility.
- Understand you are committing financial resources on behalf of the company by assigning, editing, and/or approving hours to be paid to employees.
- Respect and protect confidential employee information. This includes employee numbers, social security numbers, address, date of birth, gender, telephone number, and any pay related information. Confidential information should not be disclosed to anyone outside the company, including family members, and should only be shared with other Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD supervisors or supervisors who have a “need to know.” You should take adequate care to ensure that confidential information is not misused or disclosed.
- Complete the responsibilities associated with your assigned role by established deadlines.
- Follow Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD payroll and timekeeping procedures.

Employees who violate the spirit or letter of this policy are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. The following are examples of prohibited conduct that will result in discipline:

- Actions that violate the Policy;

- Failure to promptly raise a known or suspected violation of the Policy;
- Failure to cooperate in any investigation of possible violations of the Policy;
- Retaliation against another employee for reporting an integrity concern;
- Failure to demonstrate the leadership and diligence needed to ensure compliance with the Policy and applicable law; and
- Intentionally reporting a violation of this Policy which is false or misleading.

Violations of this Policy can also mean breaking the law, potentially subjecting you and the company to criminal penalties (fines, jail sentences or both) and civil sanctions (damage awards or fines).

If you have any questions about this Policy, it is your responsibility to consult your Payroll Analyst, Payroll Manager, or the Vice-President of Human Resources and Payroll.

PAY DAY

We pay our employees electronically and there are two options to choose from:

Paycard

If you don't have a personal bank account, your pay will be loaded directly into a Money Network® Account every payday. This easy-to-use payroll solution enables you to access your funds by using Money Network® Checks or an optional Money Network® Paycard. Write a check to yourself and cash it for free to get up to 100% of the funds in your account, withdraw cash for free at thousands of In-Network ATMs nationwide (at least one free withdrawal per pay period), pay bills, make purchases and more.

Direct Deposit

If you have a personal checking or savings account, your pay can be delivered to that account via direct deposit by the close of business on the payday.

Currently we have two pay cycles and your supervisor will inform you of which is the method used in your area.

10th and 25th day of the month pay cycle:

You will receive a paycheck on the 10th and on the 25th of the month for time worked in arrears. For instance, if Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD. hired you on Monday the 5th of the month, you will receive your first check on Saturday, the 25th.

Weekly pay cycle (CT and RI and where applicable by law):

You will receive a paycheck on Saturday for the time worked in arrears. For instance, if Prestige USA, LTD hired you on Monday the 5th of the month, you will receive your first pay on the 17th.

If applicable, PTO pay will be on the regular pay cycle. If you resign, final settlement of services or wages will be made no earlier than the next regular pay cycle, or in accordance with state law, whichever is sooner. Commissions will be settled when all paperwork is received and outstanding balances are collected.

If you are terminated, you will receive your deposit on the next regular pay day, or in accordance with applicable state laws, whichever is earlier.

OVERTIME FOR NON-EXEMPT EMPLOYEES AND HOURS WORKED

It should be recognized that overtime and additional work other than that which is regularly scheduled may be required at the sole discretion of management.

Overtime will be paid to eligible, non-exempt employees in accordance with applicable federal and/or state law. The pay for regular overtime will be at the federal or states prescribed wage rate, whichever is higher.

In some situations, overtime will be a scheduled part of a work week. Overtime will be paid on hours exceeding a total of 40 work hours per week. For purposes of overtime calculation with regards to non-exempt employees, the work week is defined as Sunday – Saturday. Overtime must be authorized prior to its occurrence by your direct supervisor.

Your work schedule is established based on projected needs of the business. Due to unanticipated changes in customer needs, work schedules are not guaranteed.

PAYROLL DEDUCTIONS

When you receive your paycheck you will find that certain deductions have been made as required by law or upon your request. These may include:

- Federal Income Taxes
- F.I.C.A. – Federal Insurance Contribution Act
- Medicare
- State Income Taxes (where applicable)
- City Tax (where applicable)
- SDI – State Disability Insurance (where applicable)

- Court ordered payments such as garnishments or child support. A garnishment is a legal claim against the wages of an employee by a creditor for nonpayment of a debt.
- Other deductions for Benefits, for example, Medical, Dental, and Employee Loans will be taken upon the receipt of your Enrollment Form.
- In accordance with applicable law, additional deductions will be made as needed to repay any debts to the Company which you may incur. Traditionally, these deductions will be assigned and agreed upon in advance through our Employment Property Agreement Form.

Any questions regarding your pay check should be discussed with your direct supervisor and / or calling Human Resources.

DEDUCTIONS FROM EXEMPT EMPLOYEE SALARY

Exempt employees are paid on a salary basis and are generally paid their full salary for any week in which they perform work. However, their pay may be reduced at the discretion of Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD in the following circumstances:

1. Employees who are absent for at least a full day because of sickness, disability, or personal reasons may not be paid for that day unless they have accrued benefits under the Company's paid time off policies. Their pay will not be reduced if they are absent for less than a full day because of sickness or disability, or personal reasons. However, an employee's leave balance will be reduced by the amount of time the employee is absent from work, even if the time absent is less than a full day.
2. Employees who are absent from work for jury duty, attendance as a witness at a trial, or temporary military leave may have their pay reduced by the amount of payment they receive in the form of jury fees, witness fees, or military pay. Their pay will not be reduced by the number of hours or days they are absent from work unless they perform no work in a given week, and then their pay may be reduced at the discretion of Company.
3. If an employee violates a safety rule of major significance, his or her pay may be reduced in an amount to be determined by the Company as a penalty for that violation.
4. Employees may be suspended without pay if they are found to have violated one of the Company's policies regarding proper workplace conduct, but only in full-day increments. Their pay will be reduced in an amount that is proportionate to the number of days suspended.
5. Any unpaid time taken under the Family and Medical Leave Act (if applicable), whether partial or full-day absences.
6. Employees who work less than 40 hours during their first or last week of employment will be paid a proportionate part of their full salary for the time actually worked.

The Company will reimburse any exempt employee whose pay is inadvertently reduced in violation of this policy. If you feel your pay has been improperly reduced, please notify a member of management or the VP of Human Resources of the Company as soon as possible.

WAGES AND SALARIES

Wage rates and salaries vary according to the current market price for comparable services, your qualifications and previous work experiences, and a successful, stable work record. Rates for one particular job or classification cannot be compared as being relative to any other. Minimum wage rates as required by law will be paid. Refer to your offer letter for your base hourly or salaried pay.

Any wage increase or adjustment in pay will be awarded on individual basis dependent upon your performance and your overall contribution to the Company's profitability.

COMMISSIONS

Should your performance, work habits, actions, conduct or demeanor become unsatisfactory based on violations either of the above or of any other Company policies, rules, or regulations, you will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. Before or during imposition of any discipline, employees may be given an opportunity to relate their version of the incident or problem at issue and provide any explanation or justification they consider relevant.

Where appropriate in the sole discretion of management, a policy of progressive employee discipline will be followed by supervisors. Major elements of this policy include:

1. 1st WRITTEN WARNING. The first step in the Company's progressive disciplinary policy is the "1st Written Warning." This is an oral reprimand to an employee when conduct is unacceptable, and that repeated or continued failure to conform conduct or performance to the Company standards will result in more severe disciplinary action. Before receiving a verbal warning, an employee will be counseled by their direct supervisor and told what improvements are necessary and expected to correct any performance deficiencies. A record of the notice of the verbal warning may be made and retained in the employee's personnel file.

2. 2nd WRITTEN WARNING. The second step is “2nd Written Warning.” This written reprimand will describe the unacceptable conduct or performance of the employee and specify needed changes or improvements. A copy of the written reprimand will be retained in the employee’s personnel file.
3. FINAL WARNING. A written reprimand which puts an employee on notice of unacceptable conduct and/or performance which was repeated conduct for which counseling has been issued or when an employee has engaged in conduct classified as a “Serious Offense” under the Company Coaching and Corrective Action Policy guidelines. The final warning will outline the nature of the problem; the improvement required and suggested improvement methods. A Final Warning is the last documented discussion prior to termination for actions of an employee that the Company believes to be unacceptable.
4. TEMPORARILY SUSPENSION. An temporarily suspension is designed to be used in circumstances where the allegations made about an employee are very serious and, if true, would likely result in the employees’ termination, but where circumstances do not allow the Company to obtain sufficient facts to determine whether the allegations are true or not. A temporarily suspension may be without pay. A suspension may or may not occur prior to termination.
5. INVOLUNTARY TERMINATION. The final step in the disciplinary procedure is the termination of the employee. If an employee fails to conform conduct or performance to the standards required by the Company, the Company may, in its sole discretion, terminate the employee’s employment.

Notwithstanding, the foregoing progressive disciplinary procedure policy, the Company reserves the right to administer discipline in such a manner as it deems appropriate to the circumstances, and may, in its sole discretion, eliminate or repeat any or all of the steps in the progressive discipline procedure.

Employees have a responsibility to the Company to advance its interests when the opportunity arises. Hence, Employees are prohibited from taking for themselves personally (or for the benefit of friends or family members) opportunities that are discovered through the use of Company assets, property, information or position.

The company will then evaluate the situation, and make a decision if the supervision relationship causes an actual or perceived conflict of interest, and whether, or under what conditions, it will be permitted to continue. A supervisor shall no longer be permitted to supervise that individual without the written permission of Human Resources management, which, if granted, may be withdrawn at any time. EMPLOYEE BENEFITS AND SERVICES

Note: Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD complies with local and state laws regarding paid and unpaid time off. Employees should contact their direct supervisor or People/Human Resources with questions about time off policies for their specific area.

PTO (Annually)

- PTO is available after 90 days of employment and will be pro-rated based on the calendar year.
- PTO does not roll over. You use it or lose it.

If eligible, Paid Time Off (PTO) will be given in half day or full day increments and scheduling requires prior approval of the direct supervisor.

The Company policy for PTO has several different characteristics depending on your classification as an employee and your status as either exempt or non-exempt. Please see your direct supervisor to see if you qualify for PTO or the People/Human Resource Department for your benefits.

PTO benefits accrue according to length of service and responsibility level within the Company. PTO does not accrue during periods of a leave. If eligible for PTO, you may not carry over PTO time from year to year and it must be taken annually to assure that you receive the full benefit of this plan. If you leave the Company in good standing, you will be paid for unused PTO, if applicable computed at the rate of pay earned upon separation, provided you give two (2) weeks written notice along with working that period and are not being terminated for cause. If you are terminated for any cause other than cause then all PTO is considered terminated and not payable unless required under state or local law.

So that we may schedule work and plan for business requirements, employees should give as much written notice as soon as possible in scheduling PTO time, a 30-day notice, or as soon as possible, is required in writing to your direct supervisor. If there are conflicting dates, preference will be given to the employee with the most seniority. However, a more junior employee who already had an approved PTO date will not be bumped by a more senior employee if prior approval for PTO had been given.

If time off exceeds two days without prior approval you must submit a valid doctor's note indicating, you were not able to work during the time off to be paid for available PTO days.

If employee is absent, employee is required to exhaust accrued paid time off and unused PTO before requesting unpaid leave.

Employees who have earned more than two weeks PTO are requested to split their time when possible, so that no more than one week is used at any one time. Special circumstance may require that you use your PTO for more than one week at a time; approval from your direct supervisor and the Human Resource department must be obtained prior to implementation.

If your PTO should be canceled due to the needs of the client or the Company and you are unable to reschedule the PTO within the year, the Company reserves the option to pay you in lieu of taking those PTO that are canceled or to allow rescheduling of that PTO at its option.

Your check for PTO will be paid on the regular pay cycle. PTO days are not used in calculating overtime hours.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE POLICY

Note: For Any type of leave fill out the Form called "REQUEST FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE" – SEE ADDENDUM SECTION

FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT (FMLA)

Leave Entitlements

Eligible employees who work for a covered employer can take up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave in a 12-month period for the following reasons:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child for adoption or foster care;
- To bond with a child (leave must be taken within 1 year of the child's birth or placement);
- To care for the employee's spouse, child, or parent who has a qualifying serious health condition;
- For the employee's own qualifying serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee's job;
- For qualifying exigencies related to the foreign deployment of a military member who is the employee's spouse, child, or parent.

An eligible employee who is a covered service member's spouse, child, parent, or next of kin may also take up to 26 weeks of FMLA leave in a single 12-month period to care for the service member with a serious injury or illness. An employee does not need to use leave in one block. When it is medically necessary or otherwise permitted, employees may take leave intermittently or on a reduced schedule.

Employees may choose, or an employer may require, use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. If an employee substitutes accrued paid leave for FMLA leave, the employee must comply with the employer's normal paid leave policies.

Benefits and Protections

While employees are on FMLA leave, employers must continue health insurance coverage as if the employees were not on leave. Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to the same job or one nearly identical to it with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms and conditions.

An employer may not interfere with an individual's FMLA rights or retaliate against someone for using or trying to use FMLA leave, opposing any practice made unlawful by the FMLA, or being involved in any proceeding under or related to the FMLA.

Eligibility Requirements

An employee who works for a covered employer must meet three criteria in order to be eligible for FMLA leave. The employee must:

- Have worked for the employer for at least 12 months;
- Have at least 1,250 hours of service in the 12 months before taking leave; * and
- Work at a location where the employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of the employee's worksite.

*Special "hours of service" requirements apply to airline flight crew employees.

Requesting Leave

Generally, employees must give 30-days' advance notice of the need for FMLA leave. If it is not possible to give 30-days' notice, an employee must notify the employer as soon as possible and, generally, follow the employer's usual procedures.

Employees do not have to share a medical diagnosis, but must provide enough information to the employer so it can determine if the leave qualifies for FMLA protection. Sufficient information could include informing an employer that the employee is or will be unable to perform his or her job functions, that a family member cannot perform daily activities, or that hospitalization or continuing medical treatment is necessary. Employees must inform the employer if the need for leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified.

Employers can require a certification or periodic recertification supporting the need for leave. If the employer determines that the certification is incomplete, it must provide a written notice indicating what additional information is required.

Employer Responsibilities

Once an employer becomes aware that an employee's need for leave is for a reason that may qualify under the FMLA, the employer must notify the employee if he or she is eligible for FMLA leave and, if eligible, must also provide a notice of rights and responsibilities under the FMLA. If the employee is not eligible, the employer must provide a reason for ineligibility.

Employers must notify its employees if leave will be designated as FMLA leave, and if so, how much leave will be designated as FMLA leave.

Enforcement

Employees may file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division, or may bring a private lawsuit against an employer.

The FMLA does not affect any federal or state law prohibiting discrimination or supersede any state or local law or collective bargaining agreement that provides greater family or medical leave rights. For additional information to file a complaint, an employee may contact the U.S. Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division by calling 1-866-4-USWAGE (1-866-487-9243) (TTY: 1-877-889-5627) or visiting <http://www.dol.gov/whd>.

Prestige Maintenance USA, LTD provides leave according to the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA), the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Act (USERRA), and other federal, state and local leave laws. If you have any questions about your eligibility leave, please contact Human Resources.

Where state or local family and medical leave laws offer more protections or benefits to Employees, the protections or benefits that are more favorable to the Employee, as provided by such laws, will apply.

EXTENDED LEAVE POLICY

If an employee becomes disabled and requires a leave of absence for a specific period of time in addition to the 12 weeks covered by FMLA*, or if the employee is not eligible for FMLA because he/she has not met the length of service or hours of service requirements, the Company will, in certain circumstances and with satisfactory medical evidence, grant an extended leave of absence.

The employee will be responsible for the total cost of the health insurance premiums on any health insurance coverage the employee or the employee's family is receiving through the Company during this extended leave period, unless otherwise provided by law. Employees will not accrue PTO while on Extended Leave.

At the beginning of and while on Extended Leave, employees are required to complete the Application for Extended Leave every 45 days to update the Company regarding the status of their medical condition and their intent to return to work. Employees may be required to provide satisfactory medical evidence substantiating their need for continued leave and the likelihood that they will be able to return to work within a reasonable period of time.

Employment will not be terminated while an employee is on Extended Leave. However, an Employee will be considered to have voluntarily terminated employment if he/she fails to return the required medical certification timely, fails to return to work when released by a medical care provider, fails to return to work upon the expiration of the Extended Leave or the date agreed upon, advises the Company of their intention not to return to work or refuses comparable reemployment.

When medical documentation indicates Employee is able to return to work either with or without a reasonable on-the-job accommodation, the Company will, depending on business need, place the employee in their former position, a vacant equivalent position or a vacant non-equivalent position. The Employee may also apply for any unfilled position that the employee is qualified for and capable of performing with or without an on-the-job accommodation. If there are no open positions, Employees may be subject to layoff.

*may be longer under other state-specific leave laws.

Service as an intermittent disaster response appointee of the National Disaster Medical System when employees are:

- activated under federal authority;
- or attending authorized training in support of a federal mission.

Compensation and Benefits during Leave

Military service leave is unpaid. However, Employees may use any or all of their PTO or other paid time off during their military service leave. During military service leave, all benefits provided under an Employee benefit plan are governed by the terms and conditions of the applicable Employee benefit plan documents in accordance with applicable law. For all other benefits not related to length of service, and Employee on military service leave will receive the same rights and benefits as Employees on any other unpaid leave of absence.

Reemployment

Employees may be eligible for reemployment after their military service leave. Any Employees who would like to return to work must report to work or submit an application for reemployment to Human Resources, including their military discharge documentation, if available as follows:

- If your military service was for less than 31 days, you must report to work on the first regularly scheduled workday that is at least eight hours after you return home from military service.
- If your military service was for 31 to 180 days, you must apply for reemployment with 14 days following completion of military service.
- If your military service was for more than 180 days, you must apply for reemployment with 90 days following the completion of military service.

- If you suffered a service-connected injury or illness and are hospitalized or convalescing, you have up to two years following completion of military service to return to your job or apply for reemployment, depending on the length of recovery time required. If Any Employees are unable to comply with this reporting schedule through no fault of their own or if they are injured or recovering from an injury and need an accommodation for specific circumstances beyond their control, they should speak with Human Resources as soon as possible to determine if they are eligible for a reasonable accommodation or additional time to apply for reemployment. Employees who do not report to work or apply for reemployment within the applicable timeframe will be subject to the Company's rules about unexcused absences.

Nothing in this policy requires the Company to reemploy individuals who are not eligible for reemployment rights under applicable law.

Length or Service Rights after Reemployment

Employees who are eligible for reemployment will be reemployed with the same length of service, and all rights and benefits based on that length of service, that they would have attained if they had not taken military service.

State or Local Military Service laws

Where state or local military service leave laws offer more protections or benefits that are most favorable to the Employee, as provided by such laws, will apply.

NON-FMLA LEAVES OF ABSENCE

It is the policy of the Company to grant employees extended leaves of absence under certain circumstances. Except as stated below, employees will not receive compensation during a leave of absence.

Employees are generally eligible for leaves of absence if they have completed at least ninety (90) days of service, or as specified by law. The granting and duration of each leave of absence and the compensation received by the employee, if any, during the leave of absence will be determined by the Company in conjunction with applicable federal and state law. However, leaves as designated herein may not exceed ninety (90) days, during which time benefits will not accrue, and will be granted only after all earned PTO has been exhausted. The following types of leaves will be considered:

1. Personal Leave of Absence. Employees may be granted a leave of absence to attend to personal matters in cases in which the Company determines that an extended period of time away from the job will be in the best interests of the employee and the Company.

2. Educational Leave of Absence. Employees who want to continue their education in preparation for added responsibilities with the Company may be granted an educational leave of absence.
3. Public Service Leave of Absence. Employees who want to accept temporary employment in federal, state, or local government or with an organization devoted to community service may be granted a leave of absence.

Requests for leave of absence or any extension of a leave should be submitted in writing to the employee's direct supervisor thirty (30) days prior to commencement of the leave period, or as soon as is practicable. The direct supervisor will forward the request to the Human Resources for approval or denial. All employees on approved leave are expected to report any change of status in their need for leave or their intention to return to work to the Human Resources Department. Employees who are on an approved leave of absence may not perform work for any other employer during that leave, except when the leave is for military or public service.

Every employee on a sick leave or family care leave of absence will be required to use all accrued PTO while on leave as allowed by law. However, employees who are covered by the Company's disability or workers' compensation insurance, and are therefore already receiving compensation, may not use sick paid leave. Every employee on a parental, personal, educational, or public service leave of absence will be required to use all accrued PTO while on leave. If eligible, the Company will provide health insurance and other benefits to employees on leave as required by law. Benefits that accrue according to length of service, such as PTO, do not accrue during periods of leave.

Employees returning from a leave of absence will be reinstated to their same job or to an equivalent job with equivalent status and pay, as required by law. Employees returning from a sick leave must provide certification of their ability to perform the functions of their job. Employees returning from a military leave must also comply with all of the reinstatement requirements specified by federal law. If the same job or one of equivalent status and pay is not available as a result of a reduction in force, the employee will be treated in the same manner as though he were not on leave at the time of the reduction in force.

If an employee fails to return to work at the conclusion of an approved leave of absence, including any extension of the leave, the employee will be considered to have voluntarily terminated employment.

EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

UNDER THE FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT

THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF LABOR WAGE AND HOUR DIVISION

LEAVE ENTITLEMENTS

BENEFITS & PROTECTIONS

Eligible employees who work for a covered employer can take up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave in a 12-month period for the following reasons:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child for adoption or foster care;
- To bond with a child (leave must be taken within one year of the child's birth or placement);
- To care for the employer's spouse, child, or parent who has a qualifying serious health condition;
- For the employee's own qualifying serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee's job;
- For qualifying exigencies related to the foreign deployment of a military member who is the employee's spouse, child, or parent.

An eligible employee who is a covered servicemember's spouse, child, parent, or next of kin may also take up to 26 weeks of FMLA leave in a single 12-month period to care for the servicemember with a serious injury or illness.

An employee does not need to use leave in one block. When it is medically necessary or otherwise permitted, employees may take leave intermittently or on a reduced schedule.

Employees may choose, or an employer may require, use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. If an employee substitutes accrued paid leave for FMLA leave, the employee must comply with the employer's normal paid leave policies.

While employees are on FMLA leave, employers must continue health insurance coverage as if the employees were not on leave.

Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to the same job or one nearly identical to it with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms and conditions.

An employer may not interfere with an individual's FMLA rights or retaliate against someone for using or trying to use FMLA leave, opposing any practice made unlawful by the FMLA, or being involved in any proceeding under or related to the FMLA.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

REQUESTING LEAVE

An employee who works for a covered employer must meet three criteria in order to be eligible for FMLA leave. The employee must:

- Have worked for the employer for at least 12 months;
- Have at least 1,250 hours of service in the 12 months before taking leave; and
- Work at a location where the employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of the employee's worksite.

*Special "hours of service" requirements apply to airline flight crew employees.

Generally, employees must give 30-days' advance notice of the need for FMLA leave. If it is not possible to give 30-days' notice, an employee must notify the employer as soon as possible and, generally, follow the employer's usual procedures.

Employees do not have to share a medical diagnosis, but must provide enough information to the employer so it can determine if the leave qualifies for FMLA protection. Sufficient information could include informing an employer that the employee is or will be unable to perform his or her job functions, that a family member cannot perform daily activities, or that hospitalization or continuing medical treatment is necessary. Employees must inform the employer if the need for leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified.

Employers can require a certification or periodic recertification supporting the need for leave. If the employer determines that the certification is incomplete, it must provide a written notice indicating what additional information is required.

EMPLOYER RESPONSIBILITIES

ENFORCEMENT

Once an employer becomes aware that an employee's need for leave is for a reason that may qualify under the FMLA, the employer must notify the employee if he or she is eligible for FMLA leave and, if eligible, must also provide a notice of rights and responsibilities under the FMLA. If the employee is not eligible, the employer must provide a reason for ineligibility.

Employers must notify its employees if leave will be designated as FMLA leave, and if so, how much leave will be designated as FMLA leave.

Employees may file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division, or may bring a private lawsuit against an employer.

The FMLA does not affect any federal or state law prohibiting discrimination or supersede any state or local law or collective bargaining agreement that provides greater family or medical leave rights.

PAID SICK LEAVE – COLORADO

COLORADO
Department of Labor and Employment

Colorado Workplace Public Health Rights Poster: PAID LEAVE, WHISTLEBLOWING, & PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT Division of Labor Standards & Statistics

Effective January 1, 2021
Must be updated annually; new poster available 1st week of each December

THE HEALTHY FAMILIES & WORKPLACES ACT ("HFWA"): Paid Leave Rights

Coverage: Employers with at least 16 employees are required to provide paid leave under the HFWA.

- Employees earn 1 hour of paid leave per 30 hours worked ("accrued leave"), up to 48 hours a year.
- Up to 80 hours of supplemental leave applies in a public health emergency (PHE), until 4 weeks after the PHE ends.
- Regular hours and pay set the rate of accrual and compensation for leave, during which benefits continue.
- Up to 48 hours of unused accrued leave carries over for use the next year.
- For details on specific situations (irregular hours, non-hourly pay, etc.), see Wage Protection Rule 3.5, 7 CCR 1103-7.

Employees can use accrued leave for the following safety or health needs:

- (1) a mental or physical illness, injury, or health condition that prevents work, including diagnosis or preventive care;
- (2) domestic abuse, sexual assault, or criminal harassment leading to health, relocation, legal, or other services needs;
- (3) has a family member experiencing a condition described in category (1) or (2); or
- (4) in a PHE, a public official closed the workplace, or the school or place of care of the employee's child.

In a public health emergency (PHE), employees can use supplemental PHE leave for the following needs:

- (1) self-isolating or work exclusion due to exposure, symptoms, or diagnosis of the communicable illness in the PHE;
- (2) seeking a diagnosis, treatment, or care (including preventive care) of such an illness;
- (3) being unable to work due to a health condition that may increase susceptibility to or risk of such an illness; or
- (4) caring for a child or other family in category (1)-(3), or whose school or child care is unavailable due to the PHE.

During a PHE, employees still earn up to 48 hours of accrued leave and may use supplemental leave before accrued leave.

Employer Policies (Notice, Documentation, Incremental Use, Privacy, and Paid Leave Records)

- Written notice and posters. Employers must (1) provide notice to new employees no later than other onboarding documents/policies; and (2) display updated posters, and provide updated notices to current employees, by end of year.
- Notice for "foreseeable" leave. Employers may adopt "reasonable procedures" in writing as to how employees should provide notice if they require "foreseeable" leave, but cannot deny paid leave for noncompliance with such a policy.
- An employer can require documentation to show that leave was for a qualifying reason only if leave was taken for four or more consecutive work days (i.e. days on which an employee would have worked, not calendar days).
- Documentation is not required to take paid leave, but can be required as soon as an employee can provide it after returning to work or separating from work (whichever is sooner). No documentation can be required for PHE leave.
- To document leave for an employee's (or an employee's family member's) health-related need, an employee may provide: (1) a document from a health or social services provider if services were received and document can be obtained in reasonable time and without added expense; otherwise (2) the employee's own writing.
- To document that an employee (or an employee's family member) required leave for a need related to domestic abuse, sexual assault, or criminal harassment, an employee may provide: a document or writing under (1) above (e.g. from a provider of legal or shelter services) or (2) above, or a legal document (e.g., a restraining order or police report).
- If an employer reasonably deems an employee's documentation deficient, the employer must: (A) notify the employee within seven days of either receiving the documentation or the employee's return to work or separation (whichever is sooner), and (B) give the employee at least seven days to cure the deficiency.

- Incremental use. Depending on employer policy, employees can use leave in either hourly or six-minute increments.
- Employee Privacy. Employers cannot require employees to disclose "details" about an employee's (or their family's) HFWA-related health or safety information; such information must be treated as a confidential medical record.
- Records must be provided upon request. Employers must provide documentation of the current amount of paid leave employees have (1) available for use, and (2) already used during the current benefit year, including any supplemental PHE leave. Information may be requested once per month or when the need for HFWA leave arises.

Retaliation or Interference with HFWA Rights

- Paid leave cannot be counted as an "absence" that may result in firing or another kind of adverse action.
- An employee can't be required to find a "replacement worker" or job coverage when taking paid leave.
- An employer cannot fire, threaten, or otherwise retaliate against, or interfere with use of leave by, an employee who: (1) requests or takes HFWA leave; (2) informs or assists another person in exercising HFWA rights; (3) files a HFWA complaint; or (4) cooperates assists in investigation of a HFWA violation.
- If an employee's reasonable, good-faith HFWA complaint, request, or other activity is incorrect, an employer need not agree or grant it, but cannot act against the employee for it. Employees can face consequences for misusing leave.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCY WHISTLEBLOWER LAW ("PHEW"): Worker Rights to Express Workplace Health Concerns & Use Protective Equipment

Coverage: All Employers and Employees, Plus Certain Independent Contractors

- PHEW covers not just "employers" and "employees," but all "principals" (an employer or a business with at least 5 independent contractors) and "workers" (employees or independent contractors at a "principal").

Worker Rights to Oppose Workplace Health/Safety Violations During Public Health Emergencies

- It is unlawful to retaliate against, or interfere with, the following acts during, and related to, a public health emergency:
 - (1) raising reasonable concerns, including informally, to the principal, other workers, the government, or the public, about workplace violations of government health or safety rules, or a significant workplace health or safety threat;
 - (2) opposing or testifying, assisting, or participating in an investigation or proceeding about retaliation for, or interference with, the above-listed conduct.
- A principal need not address a worker's PHEW-related concern, but it still cannot fire or take other action against the worker for that reason, as long as the concern was reasonable and in good-faith.

Workers' Rights to Use Their Own Personal Protective Equipment ("PPE")

- A worker must be allowed to voluntarily wear their own PPE (mask, faceguard, gloves, etc.) if the PPE (1) provides more protection than equipment provided at the workplace, (2) is recommended by a government health agency (federal, state, or local), and (3) does not make the worker unable to do the job.

COMPLAINT RIGHTS (under both HFWA & PHEW)

- Violations may be reported to the Division as complaints or anonymous tips, or may be filed as in court after exhausting pre-lawsuit remedies.

This Poster summarizes two Colorado workplace public health laws, SB 20-205 (paid leave) and HB 20-1415 (whistleblowing and personal protective equipment). It does not cover other health or safety laws, rules, and orders, including under the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), from the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment (CDPHE), or from local public health agencies. Contact those agencies for such health and safety information.

This poster must be displayed where it is easily accessible to workers, shared with remote workers, provided in languages other than English as needed, and replaced annually.

For full versions of these laws, more detailed fact sheets, or questions, information, or complaints; as to these or other labor laws, contact:
Division of Labor Standards and Statistics, coloradolaborlaw.gov, cdle_labor_standards@state.co.us, 303-318-8441 / 888-390-7936.
